Important travel information:

This trip is a pilgrimage with some challenging hiking stages. It is accompanied by a seminar focussing on: Past and Present of Orthodoxy, architecture of churches and monasteries, frescoes and icon painting. Accommodation and meals are provided in monasteries. The visa for non-Orthodox guests to enter the monk republic of Athos is requested by wang-reisen.de. The approval procedure requires a minimum of six months.

In case no visa is issued, despite a correct application and verbal approval by the pilgrim office, Wang-Reisen may not be held liable."

Because the approval procedure requires a minimum of six months and only a limited number of 10 non-orthodox guests per day are admitted, early booking is recommended. Keeping this in mind, the dates for group trips can be arranged individually. The hike around the peak and up to the peak is quite challenging: it includes partly overgrown trails, part of which used to be paved with cobble stones, where one now finds dislocated stones as well as ranking macchia. These trails can be rather slippery in case of rain. Therefore good traction of your hiking boots is indispensable. Some stages can be bypassed by boat or minibus.

An alternative tour with moderate daily legs can be offered on request. It may, for example, go to Xenofontos via the Bulgarian monastery Zografou on the north-east coast, and include the monasteries Vatopediou, Pantokratoras and Stavronikita and the Russian monastery Panteileimonos.

Once a year, a hike up to the peak of Mount Athos is offered. This date is marked with "peak". Information on equipment and additional charges is offered on request.

The equipment should include a comfortable backpack, a light sleeping bag (a so called Youth Hostel sleeping bag), well broken-in ankle-high boots, a flashlight, sunscreen, rain gear, and mosquito repellent, ear plugs and a first aid kit with all necessary medicine.

Provisions: dried fruit, nuts, light cans, rusk, salami and a water bottle.

The accommodation in the monasteries can be in single rooms or dormitories. Customarily, over-night visitors take part in the service which can take place very early in the morning or even at night. The food in the monasteries can be Spartan. Therefore we recommend taking along provisions.

Accompanying female guests may stay during the walk in Ouranoupolis for beach holiday and excursions to Vergina, Pella or Meteora.
